

	Stingdlopoid No brain, but there's a lamp. A four-legged mosquitosting doesn't really need anything else.		Butterflimpics Used to be a ladybird, but now it has changed. It doesn't fly as much, since it prefers to use its wheels. Has nothing inside except for a lamp that shines bright. If butterflimpics flies to your eyes you'll get blind.
	Fenkucioloid Talks nonsense, looks cute, but too functional. Seldom has malfunctions, but when it does it has way too many of them.		Perpogandilogodus Extremely tiresome. Reads a lot but doesn't consider itself a nerd. Has purple brain. Loves its small cells where it stores things lost by villains.
	Terrosmittall Looks like a terminator, but is really a hare. Double-faced. Never shake his arm, it's too cold. Can literally wither you with his look.		Skull-ipod Walking music player. Without it our life in future will be too quiet. The only Apple creation that has survived.
	Wajimoda Drinks water not to satisfy its thirst, but to fill its neck. Acts like a shower in hot days. But its faucet doesn't work properly.		Interyandegogle Loves Internet. Can't live without it. Knows everything and everyone. Able to find any information. Has a profile in Vkontakte and other social networks.
	Charlie the Witty Charlie is a cute monkey-like creature with a lamp on the tail. That's where his wittiness is all about. Long-armed with crooked legs, but everybody likes him because his mouth resembles a hat.		Roundeyemanicol Has never been a caterpillar. Sees everything that's going on around it from any point. Has two giant ears that help it listen but sometimes don't let its eyes see.
	Crocobidulus Eavesdrops what others speak of, but is extremely funny because of its small human legs. Wears a hat a la Charlie Chaplin.		Jerbogominoid Has only one foot, so it moves too slowly. Extremely small and sometimes inconspicuous, that's why bigger animals sometimes squash them, but they don't mean it, really.
	Fauceteyeberenny A crazy butterfly. Its wings are extremely heavy. The wings are connected with wires of vital power. There's a small TV set on one wing which shows the news badly.		Elephbarungry Resembles an elephant with its nose, but instead of a mouth is has a jazz-radio. One ear is a slightly cut. Wears rings to be like Wajimoda. Has the coolest wheels with additional spikes.
	Tryjepolodnya Lab-snake. A result of unsuccessful experiment of nature. Has a head of another snake on the tip of its tongue. Has a triangular perspective projection instead of the brain inside its head.		Pelicarongomus A very weird bird. Has horns on the beak and on the wings. You can see the rainbow in its eyes. All in all, this bird is too emotional. It likes when people stroke its tummy.
	Vangojepolody A former snail. Now instead of a shell it is has a felt boot with a TV set that breaks fast. Has weird parts inside that resemble (poop) or triangles. Moves quickly but still gets squashed as often as it used to be before.		Shiphilopogoloid A strange creature. It doesn't look like anything else. There is a piece of bread on its tail in case there may be famine in the land. Has a sun on its tummy that doesn't shine. Has 8 legs but they don't help it move faster.
	Kroshipodomony Loves wires. Sleeps from spring till autumn since its wheels are fit only for the winter. Besides it doesn't like getting out of its lair. Really cute but looks somewhat like a crocotoad.		